(U//~~ATUO~~) Board Policy: Although the Board is not saying that anything written in a book review will automatically be approved, rather these will be handled on a case-by-case basis after due consideration of the context of the information. When an author is merely repeating facts used by another author (e.g., in a book review or similar work), the Board does not consider the repetition of such statements of fact, in and of themselves, necessarily to be considered a validation of that information, and so, the author will generally be given substantial latitude in repeating these facts.
